LABOR STANDARDS ACT LITIGATION

MDL No. 1635

PLAINTIFFS' REPLY TO DEFENDANTS' OPPOSITION TO MOTION TO RE-OPEN, TRANSFER AND CONSOLIDATE PRE-TRIAL MATTERS
PURSUANT TO 28 U.S.C. § 1407 IN THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF ALABAMA

Transfer and consolidation of the actions pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1407 will promote the just and efficient resolution of the litigation. Even Defendants have recognized the efficiencies that can be achieved when discovery in these cases is consolidated. Common questions of fact exist among the cases such that centralization in a single court is proper. Moreover, the ideal judge to handle the transferred cases is the Honorable Judge L. Scott Coogler of the Northern District of Alabama, as he has been overseeing the cases for years. While Defendants argue against re-opening the MDL, they cannot deny that they created the MDL; that common facts exist among the many plaintiffs; that Judge Coogler is the most knowledgeable and experienced judge in the country with respect to the facts of these cases; and that Judge Coogler is willing, able, and motivated to resolve the cases quickly through an MDL.

Plaintiffs are essentially requesting the Panel to maintain the status quo, by allowing Judge Coogler to oversee administration of the cases.¹ There is currently, and will remain for the foreseeable future, an extraordinary waste of judicial resources, not to mention the resources of the parties. Currently, there are plaintiffs in approximately 24 states, in 44 districts, in 114 divisions, before 146 judges. There is no need in judges and judicial staffs from around the country overseeing these cases one-by-one, when Judge Coogler can do it, and especially when Judge Coogler has indicated his willingness to do so. Defendants' argument that following multiple court orders, multiple court local rules, briefing the same issue over-and-over, and having multiple judges issue multiple rulings, which are often inconsistent, on the same issue, is better than having Judge Coogler continue to oversee these cases does not pass the straight-face test. Common questions of fact exist among all actions such that centralization before a single court will conserve the resources of all involved, especially the judicial system. Judge Coogler's knowledge makes him the ideal judge to handle these cases. Plaintiffs' Motion should be granted.

I. COMMON QUESTIONS OF FACT EXIST SUCH THAT CENTRALIZATION IN A SINGLE COURT IS PROPER

All plaintiffs worked for Dollar General in the capacity of store manager. As store managers, they all were classified by Dollar General as exempt from the coverage of the Fair Labor Standards Act (“FLSA”), and were thereby denied overtime compensation. Plaintiffs maintain that they worked well over 40 hours each week performing the same manual labor duties as other store employees, and that their performance of non-managerial duties was not only critical to the success of Dollar General, but was the most important duties they performed.

There can be no doubt that common questions exist. Defendant does not dispute this fact. So many common facts exist that Defendants often file “common briefs” when seeking summary judgment. (See, e.g., Ex. 1, Joint Stipulation on Dispositive Motion Briefing.)² These common briefs are submitted as applicable to all plaintiffs before a single court, and have the benefit of avoiding duplicative submissions of evidence and arguments. That is, rather than make the same

² The Joint Stipulation provides that “many exhibits, arguments, and authorities will be common to all,” and that allowing a common brief will “relieve the Court from receiving and reviewing duplicative argument and evidence,” and will “relieve the Parties from the administrative burden associated with the filing of briefs and exhibits multiple times” (Ex. 1, Joint Stipulation on Dispositive Motion Briefing 1, ¶¶ 1 & 2.)

arguments and submit the same evidence with respect to all 20 plaintiffs in one court, the common brief allows the parties to make the arguments and submit the evidence once and have it apply to all 20 plaintiffs. Defendants have even requested consolidation for discovery purposes in numerous cases. (See, e.g., Ex. 2, Unopposed Motion to Administratively Join Cases; Ex. 3, Joint Statement Relating to Coordination of Similar Cases; Ex. 4, Joint Status Report and Proposed Discovery Plan.)

The various cases have similar, and indeed often identical, facts involved. No legitimate argument can be made to the contrary. While Defendant argues that varying regulations may govern the claims of the various plaintiffs, this argument is really just an attempt to misdirect the Panel. Section 1407 centralization analysis hinges on “common questions of fact . . .” 28 U.S.C. § 1407(emphasis added). The possibility of somewhat different regulations does not result in differing discovery. The same discovery is still necessary, as the facts and arguments do not vary to any great extent.³ Centralization will achieve convenience, efficiencies, and fairness, due not only to the great number of common facts, but also the great number of cases and common parties involved. The great factual commonality among all the actions makes centralization proper.

II. CENTRALIZATION WILL BENEFIT THE JUDICIAL SYSTEM BY CONSERVING SCARCE JUDICIAL RESOURCES

Centralization will conserve valuable judicial resources. Multiple scheduling orders, Rule 26 meetings, and status conferences are simply unnecessary. All discovery-related issues can be handled by a single judge. Likewise, Defendants’ submission of numerous motions for summary judgment against various plaintiffs is a waste of judicial resources. Having a single judge determine dispositive motions is desirable, rather than having to submit essentially the same brief to numerous courts and having claims subject to conflicting determinations. A single judge would no doubt preserve judicial resources, the resources of the parties, and avoid the possibility of multiple appeals that could result from conflicting determinations.

Centralization will promote, rather than impede, the efficient resolution of the cases. It will avoid conflicting judicial rulings and duplicative discovery. While Defendants argue that Plaintiffs have not taken any depositions, that is not to say Plaintiffs will not. Plaintiffs fully anticipate taking depositions before trial, especially the depositions of various plaintiffs' district managers. Plaintiffs' counsel have conserved their resources to this point, which in turn has benefited the clients they represent. A large number of cases have been resolved without the added expense, and this fact should not be used against them in deciding whether centralization is appropriate. And while Defendants argue no discovery disputes have arisen, that is not to say that disputes will not arise in the future. Defendants' argument with respect to the convenience of the parties as far as depositions and mediations is a sleight of hand. The depositions will continue to take place in the jurisdiction where the particular plaintiff is located. One court, however, will oversee all plaintiffs, which will definitely conserve judicial resources.

Many courts have stayed the actions before them, presumably to conserve judicial resources, until the Panel rules of Plaintiffs' Motion. (Ex. 5, Orders from Various District Courts Staying Actions.) Plaintiffs have not sought transfer of actions that have motions for summary judgment pending and, thus, all actions Plaintiffs seek transfer of are at the initial stages of motion practice.⁴ While many cases have been around for a while, the age of the cases can be deceiving. A lot of discovery is left to be done, and centralization will not cause significant delay.

⁴ Attached as Exhibit 6 is an amended schedule of actions.

Defendants wish this Panel to believe the carrying-on in multiple federal jurisdictions, in front of multiple judges, with multiple sets of rules, orders, deadlines, and opinions, arguing the same facts, submitting the same evidence, and citing the same case law to each court is somehow the most efficient way to resolve these cases. This argument is a stretch at best. The commonsensical approach is to allow one court to oversee the administration of these multiple cases which share common facts, evidence, and law. This is especially true where as in this case, there is a judge who is experienced and knowledgeable in overseeing these cases, as discussed below.

III. JUDGE COOGLER OF THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF ALABAMA IS WILLING AND ABLE TO OVERSEE ADMINISTRATION OF THESE CASES

Judge Coogler of the Northern District of Alabama is the ideal transferee judge, as he possesses great knowledge and understanding of the facts of the cases and the state of the law. Furthermore, Judge Coogler has demonstrated his willingness to continue to oversee the cases with the benefit of an MDL. Judge Coogler's willingness and motivation to handle the transferred cases will greatly benefit the parties and the judicial system.

The difficulties that sometimes arise when multiple cases are suddenly transferred will perhaps be avoided in this instance because of Judge Coogler's experience in handling the administration of these cases and his knowledge of the facts, evidence, arguments, and parties involved. While Defendants argue that no plaintiffs reside in the Northern District of Alabama, that is not a prerequisite. Moreover, Plaintiffs have sought consolidation of the Richter action, the collective action in the Northern District of Alabama, and this action has Northern District of Alabama residents. The Panel should opt for the experienced judge to oversee administration of these cases. Moreover, the litigation lacks a singular geographical focal point, as there are plaintiffs around the country and, thus, there is no concentration of witnesses in a particular locale. The nature of the discovery likewise does not necessitate a particular jurisdiction.

Judge Coogler has indicated his willingness to handle these cases with the benefit of an MDL. Defendants' argument that Plaintiffs are simply trying to pick a jurisdiction is unfounded. Defendants cannot dispute that Judge Coogler has more knowledge and experience with these cases than any other judge in the country and has shown his willingness and motivation to handle, and ultimately dispose of, these cases. Furthermore, any suggestion that these cases will be transferred back to the transferor courts nearly as quickly as they are transferred to the Northern District of Alabama is untrue. Judge Coogler will have the cases for a while, as Plaintiffs anticipate him overseeing discovery and addressing dispositive motions. The cases will not be transferred back to the transferor courts until they are ready for trial. Judge Coogler's knowledge and motivation is unquestionable, which makes him the ideal transferee judge, which will ultimately benefit the judicial system as a whole.

IV. CONCLUSION

Transfer and consolidation of the actions pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1407 will promote the just and efficient resolution of the litigation. Common questions of fact exist among the cases such that centralization in a single court is proper. Judge Coogler of the Northern District of Alabama is the ideal judge to handle the transferred cases, as he has been overseeing the cases for years. Transfer and consolidation will conserve scarce judicial resources and, therefore, Plaintiffs' Motion to Re-Open, Transfer and Consolidate Pre-Trial Matters Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1407 in the Northern District of Alabama should be granted.

JOINT STIPULATION ON DISPOSITIVE MOTION BRIEFING

Plaintiffs John Taylor, Penny Ahlberg, Collin Childers, Teresa Hale, Bobbie Holden, Michael Jones, Cynthia Murphy, David Parsons, Catherine Perkins, Eve Prater, Robin Pruitt Tate, Brenda Roe, John Shannon, Stella Shepherd, Ernest Tate, Bobby Tipton, and Theresa Whomble (“Plaintiffs”) and Defendant Dolgencorp, Inc. (“Defendant” or “Dollar General”) (collectively “the Parties”) hereby file this Joint Stipulation on Dispositive Motion Briefing and state as follows:

1. Defendant intends to file motions for summary judgment in multiple Western District of Virginia cases. Although there will be individual facts and arguments presented as to each Plaintiff, many exhibits, arguments, and authorities will be common to all.
2. In order to provide the Court with the quantum of information necessary to determine the merits of each individual motion for summary judgment, as well as to relieve the Court from receiving and reviewing duplicative argument and evidence, and to relieve the Parties from the administrative burden associated with the filing of briefs and exhibits multiple times, the Parties have agreed upon a briefing and filing plan that they submit to the Court herein.

3. Counsel for both Parties have utilized similar proposals in other jurisdictions involving multiple related cases and have found that the result was an overall decrease in the amount of time and volume of paper required to effectuate the briefing of these cases.¹ Accordingly, the Parties jointly stipulate to the following:

- a. Defendant may file one “Common Brief in Support of Its Individual Motions for Summary Judgment” (“Common Brief”), not to exceed 30 pages, in the lead case, John Taylor v. Dolgencorp, Inc., Civil Action No. 1:09-CV-00002. The Common Brief will contain facts, argument, and authority relevant and pertinent to the claims of each of the above-named Plaintiffs. In addition, the Parties stipulate that Defendant may file a “Common Submission of Evidence in Support of its Motions For Summary Judgment” (“Common Submission of Evidence”). This Common Submission of Evidence will contain evidence applicable to all of the individual Plaintiffs’ claims. The Parties stipulate to treat the Common Brief and Common Submission of Evidence as having been filed in all above matters without requiring Defendant to file its Common Brief and Common Submission of Evidence in each matter separately.
- b. The Parties stipulate that Plaintiffs may collectively file one “Common Response in Opposition to Defendant’s Individual Motions for Summary Judgment” (“Common Response”), not to exceed 30 pages, again in, John Taylor v. Dolgencorp, Inc., Civil Action No. 1:09-CV-00002. In addition, the Parties stipulate that Plaintiff may file a Common Submission of

Evidence, which will contain evidence applicable to all of the individual Plaintiffs' claims. The Common Response will contain facts, argument, and authority relevant and pertinent to the claims of each of the Plaintiffs. The Parties stipulate to treat the Common Response and Plaintiff's Common Submission of Evidence as having been filed in all matters without requiring the Plaintiffs to file their brief and exhibits in each cause number separately.

- c. In addition to the Common Briefs and Common Responses, the Parties stipulate that they be permitted to file separate "Individual Briefs," limited to 20 pages, in support of or in opposition to the motions for summary judgment. The Individual Briefs will contain the distinct facts and argument relevant and pertinent to each respective Plaintiff, along with their individual exhibits. The Individual Briefs are to be filed under each respective individual cause number.
- d. The Parties further stipulate that Defendant may file a Common Reply to Plaintiff's Common Response, not to exceed 15 pages, and individual Replies to Plaintiffs' Individual Briefs opposing the motions for summary judgment, not to exceed 10 pages, or in the alternative, a combined reply brief not to exceed 25 pages.

4. The Parties agree that filing Common briefs containing legal arguments and separate shorter briefs containing the distinctive individual facts and arguments will aid the Parties in presenting all of their arguments in significantly fewer than the total pages of briefing per side that would otherwise be applicable to individual matters. The Parties believe that this stipulation will also preserve this Court's judicial resources by avoiding the repetitive filing of identical and voluminous briefing and exhibits, and request the relief to ease the administrative burden on both the Parties and the Court related to summary judgment practice in the Western District of Virginia.

5. Counsel for all Parties are in agreement as to the substance of this Joint Stipulation.

PLAINTIFF'S UNOPPOSED MOTION TO ADMINISTRATIVELY JOIN CASES FOR PRETRIAL PROCEEDINGS AND RULINGS

Pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 42(a), Plaintiff, Kim Craterfield, moves this Court to administratively join the above captioned action with the following similar actions for purposes other than dispositive motions and trial (including pre-trial proceedings and rulings): Christine Harcar v. Dolgencorp, Inc., et al. civil action number 1:09-cv-00186; Rita Jeppson v. Dolgencorp, Inc., et al. civil action number 1:09-cv-00188; Lauri Johnson v. Dolgencorp, Inc., et al. civil action number 1:09-cv-00185; Wilma Slack v. Dolgencorp, Inc., et al. civil action number 1:09-cv-00190; and Harriet Tufte v. Dolgencorp, Inc., et al. civil action number 1:09-cv-00191 (hereinafter "Joined Cases"). As grounds for said request, Plaintiff avers that:

1. Plaintiffs in the Joined Cases filed their lawsuit alleging that they spent the majority of their time performing non-managerial tasks, and that these tasks are more important than the managerial duties they performed. As such, Plaintiffs believe that they were improperly classified as exempt employees under the FLSA and denied overtime wages. Dollar General alleges that each of Plaintiffs' primary duty was managing the store in which he or she worked and that each Plaintiff was properly classified as exempt employees and not entitled to overtime compensation. The main issue in each of these cases is whether Plaintiffs' "primary duty" was management in order to render each Plaintiff exempt under the FLSA's executive exemption provisions.

2. Presently, there are 10 cases assigned to 9 different district judges in the Northern District of Illinois, Chicago Division. Each of the Joined Cases involves common questions of law.

3. Administrative joinder will facilitate prompt and efficient resolution of the legal issues common in these actions.

4. Plaintiff has filed the instant motion seeking administrative joinder in this Court since this is the first assigned case and contains the lowest case number. Plaintiff has consulted with the Defendants¹ in this matter and they do not oppose the relief being requested.

¹ DG Retail, LLC, who is not a named party in this lawsuit, was Plaintiff's former employer and is the proper party Defendant. Dolgencorp, Inc., Dolgencorp of New York, Inc., Dolgencorp of Texas, Inc., and Dollar General Partners ("Current Defendants") were not Plaintiff's former employer. Because Current Defendants are separately

WHEREFORE, PREMISES CONSIDERED, Plaintiff respectfully requests that this Court enter an order administratively joining the aforementioned cases for purposes other than dispositive motions and trial (including pre-trial proceedings and rulings).

JOINT STATEMENT RELATING TO COORDINATION OF SIMILAR CASES

In accordance with Judge Webber's order dated February 11, 2009,¹ Defendant Dolgencorp, Inc.² and Plaintiffs³ (collectively "the Parties") hereby submit their joint statement relating to possible coordination of similar cases pending in this district:

By order dated December 17, 2008, ten cases were transferred to this district from the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Alabama, Western Division. Currently, the ten cases transferred to this district are pending in the Eastern Division, and have been assigned to seven different judges as follows:

³ Plaintiffs Underwood, Noll, Hogan, Zweifel, Kuenz, Stroder, Kanatzer, Rinker, and McGrath join in this Statement.

Judge Perry

- Gearin v. Dolgencorp, Inc. et al., Cause No. 4:09-CV-00072-CDP
- Underwood v. Dolgencorp, Inc. et al., Cause No. 4:09-CV-00078-CDP
- Noll v. Dolgencorp, Inc. et al., Cause No. 4:09-CV-00081-CDP

Judge Hamilton

- Hogan v. Dolgencorp, Inc. et al., Cause No. 4:09-CV-00073-JCH
- Zweifel v. Dolgencorp, Inc. et al., Cause No. 4:09-CV-00077-JCH

Judge Jackson

- Kuenz v. Dolgencorp, Inc. et al., Cause No. 4:09-CV-00075-CEJ

Judge Shaw

- Stroder v. Dolgencorp, Inc. et al., Cause No. 4:09-CV-00080-CAS

Judge Webber

- Kanatzer v. Dolgencorp, Inc. et al., Cause No. 4:09-CV-00074-ERW

Judge Sippel

- Rinker v. Dolgencorp, Inc. et al., Cause No. 4:09-CV-00082-RWS

Judge Autrey

- McGrath v. Dolgencorp, Inc. et al., Cause No. 4:09-CV-00076-HEA

On February 11, 2009, Judge Webber entered an order in Kanatzer and directed the Parties to file their “joint statement relating to possible coordination of similar cases pending in this district...in cause number 4:09-CV00072 CDP,” which is currently pending before Judge Perry.

The Parties advise that they do not oppose administrative consolidation of the cases in this district for purposes other than dispositive motions and trial (including pre-trial proceedings and rulings). However, Defendant opposes consolidation of the cases for summary judgment and trial purposes, and believes that each case must be independently disposed of on its individual merits. Although Plaintiffs agree with the administrative consolidation, they also believe the cases should remain consolidated through any dispositive motion and trial phase.

Therefore, the Parties agree that coordination of the above ten cases for the above described purposes is proper. Therefore, in accordance with Local Rule 42-4.04, the Parties agree and propose that the remainder of the transferred cases be consolidated with Gearin, which bears the lowest cause number (currently pending before Judge Perry). Defendant, however, reserves the right to request that these cases be transferred back to the judges that were originally assigned to each of these cases for summary judgment and trial purposes.

Respectfully submitted,

JOINT STATUS REPORT AND PROPOSED DISCOVERY PLAN

Pursuant to the Court's Text Order of April 1, 2009, Defendant DG Retail, LLC (referenced as "Dollar General")¹ and Plaintiffs Peggy Buhl, Janice Welch, Paula Steidinger, Rebecca Burger, Janice K. Wilson, Steve Melton, Deanna Loomis, Debbie Davis, Ronda Houmes, Joan Miner, Kimberly Morgan, Martino Ritz, Monica Schmitz, (collectively, "Plaintiffs") submit this Joint Initial Status Report and Proposed Discovery Plan. On March 31, 2009, pursuant to the Administrative Order of the Executive Committee (Dk. No. 9), the individual cases of the 13 plaintiffs were administratively consolidated and Case 09-2076 was designated as the lead case in these matters.

A. Nature of the Case

The basis for the court's jurisdiction is the federal Fair Labor Standards Act, 29 U.S.C. § 201 et seq. Plaintiffs filed these lawsuits alleging that each Plaintiff was improperly classified as an exempt employee, and that Defendant violated the FLSA by not paying each overtime compensation. Dollar General asserts that each Plaintiff's primary duty was managing the store in which he or she worked, that each Plaintiff was properly classified as an exempt employee, and that none of the Plaintiffs are entitled to overtime compensation. No counterclaims are asserted.

All parties initially sued have been served. However, each Plaintiff's employer, DG Retail, LLC, has not been sued nor served. The parties intend to stipulate to a substitution of Defendants so that the proper Defendant is before the Court. This stipulation will be filed separately by a subsequent joint submission.

The major legal issues are:

- Whether each Plaintiff was properly classified as exempt from overtime under the FLSA;
- Whether each Plaintiff's primary duty was management of a customarily recognized department or subdivision of Dollar General's enterprise when each was employed by Dollar General as a Store Manager during the applicable period;
- Whether Dollar General acted reasonably and in good faith effort in classifying each Plaintiff as exempt from overtime, precluding recovery of liquidated damages; and
- Whether Dollar General did not act in willful violation the FLSA.

The major factual issues are:

- Whether and to what extent each Plaintiff worked more than forty hours per workweek during the applicable limitations period;
- Whether each Plaintiff concurrently exercised managerial duties contemporaneously with any manual labor or non-exempt tasks;

- Whether each Plaintiff regularly exercised managerial discretion;
- Whether each Plaintiff was relatively free from supervision in that each was consistently and regularly the highest ranking member of management in the store and was “in charge” of his or her store;
- Whether each Plaintiff regularly directed the work of two or more other employees;
- Whether each Plaintiff was paid more than the minimum salary per week under the applicable FLSA regulations;
- Whether each Plaintiff earned significantly more than any of his or her subordinates;
- Whether each Plaintiff’s salary was intended to compensate him or her for all hours worked;
- Whether Dollar General acted in good faith effort in classifying each Plaintiff as exempt from overtime and whether Dollar General had reasonable grounds for that belief, precluding recovery of liquidated damages; and
- Whether Dollar General did not act in willful violation the FLSA.

Key authorities and other court orders which may assist the Court in understanding and ruling on the issues include (among others): Donovan v. Burger King, 672 F.2d 221, 226 (1st Cir. 1982); Baldwin v. Trailer Inns, Inc., 266 F.3d 1104 (9th Cir. 2001); Murray v. Stuckey's, 939 F.2d 614 (8th Cir. 1991); *Thomas v. C. Discovery Stipulations and Limitations Substantial general discovery was completed prior to transfer to this Court, and the parties recommend that such discovery be permitted to be used in these cases. Subject to the applicable rules of evidence, the parties propose that the parties be allowed to rely upon any prior discovery taken and that each party put the other party on notice as to that prior discovery on which the party intends to rely for trial or summary judgment motions, pursuant and subject to any applicable rules or court ordered trial procedures.

The parties propose that, because substantial discovery has already been taken in the underlying class case, discovery can and should be subject to certain limitations set forth below:

Each Plaintiff may:

- take one set of 30(b)(6) depositions for all transferred cases.²
- serve one “corporate” set of written discovery upon Dollar General to be answered and used in all transferred cases.³ This corporate written discovery by

² This allows for discovery in addition to any 30(b)(6) depositions already taken in the preceding Gray and Brown cases from which this case originated in the Northern District of Alabama.

³ Each Plaintiff is one of hundreds of Plaintiffs whose individual case has been or will be the transferred Plaintiffs, including each Plaintiff before this Court, may consist of up to 10 interrogatories, 10 requests for production, and 10 requests for admissions.

- each Plaintiff may conduct Plaintiff-specific discovery from Dollar General by serving up to an additional five (5) interrogatories, five (5) requests for production, and five (5) requests for admission.

Dollar General may:

- take depositions of each Plaintiff and any witnesses identified by the parties (including expert witnesses).
- serve one set of written discovery to each Plaintiff including up to 10 interrogatories, 10 requests for production, and 10 requests for admissions.
- conduct third-party discovery, including depositions and subpoenas of records.

D. Trial

Each Plaintiff has requested a trial by jury. The parties anticipate that each trial will last 3 days. Dollar General proposes that the 13 individual actions administratively consolidated by this court be set separately for individual trials once discovery is complete as to all Plaintiffs; Plaintiffs, however believe these cases can be consolidated for trial purposes in addition to discovery. The parties do not unilaterally consent to proceed before a Magistrate Judge.

E. Settlement Status

The parties have, in the past, met to discuss settlement of class allegations when each Plaintiff was a member of a class. However, to date, the parties have not discussed settlement of each Plaintiff's claim individually. Nonetheless, the parties are willing to engage in informal face-to-face settlement conferences among the parties and counsel at a time the parties deem most appropriate – a process that has proven productive in other jurisdictions related to similar cases – and request an opportunity to do so prior to being ordered to incur the expense of transferred by Judge Coogler from the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Alabama to various district courts across the country.

enlisting third-party mediators. Should these informal settlement conferences not be fruitful, each party reserves the right to seek more formal ADR by court order related to any case that the party believes may benefit from such a process.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ Roman Shaul

CASE NO. 4:10cv00275 BSM

DOLGENCORP, INC., et al.

DEFENDANTS

ORDER

Plaintiff, Cora Hill (“Hill”) moves to stay all proceedings pending a decision by the Multi-District Litigation Panel (“MDL Panel”) on a motion to re-open, transfer and consolidate pre-trial matters pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1407. [Doc. No. 18]. Defendants oppose the motion. [Doc. No. 20]. The motion is granted.

Hill maintains that staying the case will serve judicial economy and efficiency. In their response defendants cite to their brief in opposition to plaintiff’s MDL motion. They further argue that a stay will not promote efficiency because the action has been pending for years and has already been transferred once. The only discovery remaining are depositions that will likely take place in Arkansas. Additionally, defendants assert that this court will decide all merits-related determinations. They conclude that the delay is for delay’s sake.

Hill’s motion to stay [Doc. No. 18] is granted. The parties shall advise the court in writing immediately upon an action taken by the MDL Panel with regard to this case.

IT IS SO ORDERED this 28th day of May, 2010.

v.

No. 5:10CV00112 JLH

DOLGENCORP, INC., et al.

DEFENDANTS

Plaintiff moves to stay all proceedings pending a decision by the Multi-District Litigation Panel (“MDL Panel”) on a motion to re-open, transfer and consolidate pretrial matters pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1407. Defendants oppose the motion.

Plaintiff maintains that staying the case will serve judicial economy and efficiency. In their response defendants cite to their brief in opposition to plaintiff’s MDL motion. They further argue that a stay will not promote efficiency because the action has been pending for years and has already been transferred once. The only discovery remaining are depositions that will likely take place in Arkansas. Additionally, defendants assert that this Court will decide all merits-related determinations. They conclude that the delay is for delay’s sake.

The Court has concluded that a stay will serve judicial economy and efficiency. Plaintiff’s motion to stay is GRANTED. Document #18.

IT IS SO ORDERED this 28th day of May, 2010.
